BRAIDWOOD FOLK MUSIC CLUB INC.

Following on last year's successful festival, Braidwood Folk Club has had a busy year with great guest artists and a string of local musos popping out of the woodwork.

At the Festival this year we have some wonderful artists. We have tried to create a diversified programme, showcasing the new with some of the more experienced acts. We are happy that the Elrington Hotel has joined us as a major participant and sponsor. While they will be providing an acoustic platform near the bar area, the Hotel further down in the village will also host a chalkboard and be an official venue in this year's festival.

Of course, none of this would be possible without our dedicated team of volunteers, both during the lead up week and throughout the year . We have been shown great support, both financial and spiritual by our local community and businesses and we hope to maintain this connection in the time to come.

Have a great festival.

WORKSHOPS

Gail "Tango Fandango" Horsley WHY DIDN"T SOMEONE TELL ME THIS BEFORE???!!"
AKA 10 Things that have improved my voice & performance, which I can't believe I didn't work out for myself or get told earlier, because they are so annoyingly simple (the solutions, not my voice or performance - though not everyone would agree with that!)

Dya Singh Music Meditation.
Music is a great way to get in touch with your own spirit. Dya Singh explores the mystical and meditational side of Sikh music. The music has links to Indian raags and Sufi qawalli's and features hypnotic rhythms and repetitive chants but is given the Australian touch. Uplifting and invigorating. Come along and participate. A great way to start the day.

Roaring 40s "Hazard, hardship and damned little pay describes the lot of those labouring on the land, at the coal seam and at sea. This collection of songs celebrates their endurance, their pride in their work and the nobililty of their labour."

Chris O'Connor
This Acoustic Blues Guitar workshop will look at various accompaniment styles for blues using a range of different bass lines. We can also discuss open tunings used for blues playing, depending on participants interests.

Baz Cooper
Accordion Playing Workshop Baz has been playing the piano accordion since he was about 14, although he has stopped for meal and toilet breaks and the occasional sleep.
He sees the accordion as the most amazing breathing expressive instrument with a huge scope in different styles and will try in this workshop, to help newer accordion players to find this potential.

Nick Charles
After more than 25years in the music business ,Nick has many insights and tips for the "roots" oriented acoustic guitarist. Nick will discuss his influences,Nick has just returned from his third US tour where amongst other techniques and approach ,as well as demonstrate and answer questions things was a judge in the National Fingerpicking Championships.

The women from Mothers of Intention share their secrets about how they make those georgeous harmonies in their performances. Come along and discover the joys of blending voices together.

With a combined age of 42, and with music being most of them, these three three young musicians from the Bega Valley (Sven 16, Leif 14 and their sister Sigrid 12) have thrown together a range of musical experiences from classic to celtic and many things in between. With violins, guitar, viola, drum and interesting recorder harmonies, they play tunes from many parts of the world, but much of their inspiration comes from the folk/celtic scene. It won't be long 'til they compose their own traditional music. Watch this space.

Although a relative newcomer to the 'folk scene' having first performed at Jamberoo in 2001, Vic has gained rapid acceptance from his audiences and has appeared as a featured poet and Master of Ceremonies at virtually every major festival since. He was a finalist in one of Australia's premier poetry competitions held during the Tamworth Country Music Festival in 202 and shared second place in the National Reciters' Award when he appeared at the National Folk Festival, Canberra in 2003. As well as developing a refreshing approach to the role of Master of Ceremonies, Vic writes and performs ballads and poems from his keen observations of life. His poems have meaning and wit and are delivered with energy and character and are sure to make you laugh, maybe make you cry, but certainly entertain you.

The Quilt Event 2003

Featuring the Airing of the Quilts
Saturday November 22nd

On the fourth Saturday of November visit Braidwood when the main street will glow with colour as the quilts are strung up on the first floor verandahs with a backdrop of intricate and ornate ironwork and wood.

Many special treats are in store for visitors to the 2 day indoor exhibition as well:

* Super Circles- Quilters Guild Suitcase Exhibition.
* Waterholes and Wandering - is a challenge where quilters will express their skills, sense of humour, political wit and talent for satire in a small quilt featuring a selected fabric.
* The Event will open officially at 6pm on Friday November 21st at the National Theatre.

Plus more exhibitions, open studios and open gardens
